THE DEMOCRATS

THE PLATFORM ADOPTED AT LOS ANGELES.

Touching the Tariff Very Lightly-Searls for Chief Justice-Other Nominations.

(SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.)

Los Angeles, May 17th .- The Convention met this morning at 10:20, Hon. R. F. Del Valle in the chair. The Committee on Resolutions and Platform announced that t was ready to report.

THE PLATFORM. Hon. S. M. White, Chairman, was called on to read it, which was as follows:

The Democracy of the State of California in Convention assembled hereby adopt the following platform of its principles: We indorse the Administration of Grover Cleveland. His earnest and intelligent efforts in the interests of the people have justly won the plaudits of all patriotic citizens. When he was elected to perform the duties of the high office, the functions of which he has so ably discharged, our political opponents confidently avowed that his incumbency would result in disaster and ruin. The prosperity which hes accompanied his Administration, the unflagging zeal which he has manifested in promoting the welfare of all, the unsullied character of the public servants of his selection, by whom he is surrounded, have demonstrated that the people were right in demanding a change of Administration, and that the permanency of our institutions and the maintenance of our proud position as a people depend Democratic ascendency. The Democracy, under the leadership of Grover Cleveland, seeks to deal at once with the issues of the day and to utilize Governmental authority to improve the condition of the governed. The Republican organization, controlled as it is by persons whose transgressions have driven them from place, seeks restoration to power by appealing to issues buried in the oblivion of a quarter of a century. Its aspiration, as contained in the deciarations of leaders, is to revive dissensions and discord, which have long since been forgotten by all right-thinking men. on to read it, which was as follows:

THE TARIFF. The Democracy is pledged to an equitable revision of the tariff. The Republican party, while admitting the inequality and injustice of the revenue laws enacted under the excitement the revenue laws enacted under the excitement and necessities of a great war, persistently fails to suggest any reform, and obstinately seeks to defeat all efforts directed at the adoption of a just and comprehensive measure. We believe in fostering American industry, but we oppose the subsidizing of great monopolies and the centralization of money in the hands of a few autocrats whose aims and wishes are wholly at variance with the welfare of the toilers of the land. We heartily indorse that progressive measure, commensurate with and made necessary by the growth and needs of our country, the message of the President, urging a reform in our tarift, which will lessen the exactions now practiced upon our people. racticed upon our people.

Resolved, That this Convention recommend the passage of an Act of Congress providing for the tree coinage of both gold and silver, by the terms of which Act all gold and silver bullion offered at the several mints of the United States shall be received in exchange for money, or gold or silver certificates at the rate now fixed by law for standard dollars of gold and silver, which certificates shall be receivable for public purposes and interchangeable for gold and silver, as the case may be.

SILVER.

CHINESE IMMIGRATION. We are, as ever, absolutely opposed to Chinese mmigration. We congratulate the people upon he success which has attended the efforts of the success which has attended the efforts of the Democratic Administration in so amending our treaty with the Chinese Empire as to practically exclude the Mongolian from our shores. Long years of Republican control failed to accomplish this result, and it was lett for the administration of Grover Cleveland to formulate successfully a treaty which settles a question which Republicans have been incompetent to deal. By this treaty all prior residence pleas are rendered ineffectual, and all return certificates now extant absolutely invalidated. We piedge our representatives in Congress to procure the enactment of such legislation as will render it impossible for Republican Federal Judges to defeat its purposes or nullify the provisions of a treaty which has for the first time rendered absolute exclusion possible.

PUBLIC LANDS. The public lands of the United States should The public lands of the United States should e disposed of to actual settlers only. During epublican dominancy, immense bodies of the utional domain passed into the hands of corrorate and toreign syndicates formed for the eation of individual fortunes. The terms of ese grants were persistently violated by the mediciaries and these violations passed unseeded until a Democratic administration, in seddience to the platform of its principles and needed until a Democratic administration, in bleddience to the platform of its principles and he last National Convention, declared them orfeited, thus tendering to those seeking homes n good faith more than forty millions of acres which had been withheld from the people under Republican rule for the benefit of the selfish few. We commead the policy of Grover Cleveland in his regard, and congratulate our Chief Executive upon the success which has attended the dministration of the affairs of the United States Land and Survey Offices within the State of California.

ELECTION OF UNITED STATES SENATORS. We are in favor of the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people of the several States, and earnestly urge the adoption of such an amendment to the Consti-tution of the United States as will accomplish RAILROAD CORPORATION TAXES. We commend the action of our Democratic State officials in pressing the California tax cases toward ultimate decisions, and hope this most important issue will not be permitted to rest without final adjudication upon its merits. We once more condemn the acts of those corporations which have persistently refused to pay their lawful portion of the public revenue. This failure to respond to a just demand has seriously contracted the public school fund and must render our educational system less effective until collection is enforced or the honest taxpayer is compelled to contribute beyond his proportionate share. The Republican party, ever sincere in its professions, has finally disavowed all intention to resist the demands or its corporate masters. It refuses to stigmatize their encroachmen s or to question their misconduct, but on the contravy as the section of its left. corporate masters. It refuses to stigmatize their encroachmen sor to question their misconduct, but on the contrary, as the action of its late State Convention demonstrates, yields ready compliance to their dictation. While fully appreciating the benefits of organized capital, we declare that the protection of those privileges which our Constitution declares are the common heritage is paramount to the increase of individual wealth.

TRUSTS AND CORPORATIONS. Resolved, We believe that the public should be protected from the great non-tax paying cor-porations and trusts which now challenge the porations and trusts which now challenge the authority of the Government. The Democratic party was founded to maintain the interests and liberties of the people. It alone is competent to resist those encroachments which imperit the safety of the State. The Republican party, while professing to be the friend of labor, has demonstrated by its uniform action that its tendencies are toward the creation of monopolies and trusts through whose instrumentially alone it are toward the creation of monopolies and trusts, through whose instrumentality alone it hopes to perpetuate its existence. The Democratic party emanated from the people. Its aim has always been to care for the weak and to be just to the strong. While it is ever ready to promote the industries and to stimulate enterprise, it will never permit wealth to shirk its rightful obligations, or to impose upon poverty the expenses of a Government formed for the benefit of all.

TRIBUTE TO GOVERNOR BARTLETT. ed, That in the death of our late Gov-Resolved, That in the death of our late Governor, Washington Bartlett, the State of California lost an upright citizen and an honorable and conscientious Executive. As County Clerk and Mayor of San Francisco, and as Senator from that city, he gave unmistakable proofs of his capability and integrity. Elevated to the high office of Governor of this State, he had but just because to give the people the beaughties of his great office of Governor of this State, he had but just begun to give the people the benefits of his great experience when he was summoned to his last rest. Apprecisting the lofty qualities which made him the favorite of the people, we join in the universal sorrow which has followed his untimely demise. His life furnishes an example which may well be imitated. His faithful discharge of public duties demonstrated the singuity of his Demonstrate. sincerity of his Democracy

ANOTHER GREAT DISCOVERY AND INVENTION.

A most important discovery and invention in surgical science has been made by Dr. J. H. Girdner, of New York, which he has given, according to the ethics of the profession, to his brethren of the be best shown and defeated by their wide scalpel. It consists of a telephone wired to a probe, by means of which a bullet touched in the body by the probe causes the telephone diaphragm to vibrate and the transmitter at the opening or closing of the electrical circuit. But in this case no battery is used and the electrical current that operates the instrument is drawn from the body of the patient himself, thus demonstrating that in every human body there is sufficient of electrical power to be made manifest audibly upon a telephonic diaphragm. The value of this probe discovery can scarcely be overestimated; to the surgical world it will prove an invaluable aid, and almost wholly displace the unreliable porcelain-pointed probe now used to ascertain the location of a bullet. This porcelain probe-when it takes the place of the oldtime probe that locates by feeling-is used to reach the bullet, and when it is supposed to be found the porcelain point is rubbed against it. If, on withdrawal, there are marks of lead on the porcelain point, the believe, within the limits of order and surgeon's search has been successful. But prior to this, he may touch bone and hard substances frequently and be unable to determine whether the location of the bullet is found or not. Moreover, as Dr. Girdner shows, where a ball has been long in the body, thick crusts of salts of lead frequently form and prevent the marking of the probe. So, too, if there is grease upon the ball, it may prevent the marking. Even where it is marked, a great deal of rubbing is first required, even in the most favorably located gun-shot wounds. But if the location of the ball can be determined the moment it is touched, and all possible mistake avoided liable to occur by coming in contact with other hard substances, time of the most vital importance is saved, and human suffering lessened by the decrease of probing.

The telephonic probe is thus constructed: The receiver of the telephone is of hard rubber; in the center is a small bar of soft iron coiled with insulated wire, the two ends passing back to binding posts. The soft iron bar extends beyond the coil and June 30, 1887: almost touches a delicate metal diaphragm. When a current of electricity is passed June 30, 1886...
June 30, 1887... through the coil the iron bar of course becomes a magnet and it at once attracts the diaphragm, causing it to vibrate; with the breaking of the circuit the diaphragm springs back to place, and hence the 'click" so familiar to the ear of users of the telephone. From the binding posts run two wires; one terminates in a hollow bulbous piece of steel, and the other in a metal clamp holding a long needle, or a probe, perfect contact between the wires it is true, but agreggates are the sums of will be the date of the second universal or and probe and handle being assured. A set of needles of various forms and sizes is also provided for use when there is no direct channel to the bullet, and it is necessary to thrust into the tissues.

In use the bulb is inserted in the patient's mouth and the lips closed. The operator puts the telephone to his ear while he passes in the steel probe. When it meets with hard substances not metal bullet a sharp click is heard, caused by the current of electricity in the body signaling the closing of the circuit. The needle grip can now be loosened and the probe left in position as a guide direct to the ball.

To remove any skepticism concerning his invention, Dr. Girdner suggests the means by which any one can demonstrate the claim made for it:

the claim made for it:

"Place the steel bulb in a person's mouth have the lips close, so that perfect electricate contact exists. Moisten one of the patient's hands thoroughly and place in it a piece of lead, large enough that the hand can grip it firmly, thus making perfect contact with the moistened paim. Place a piece of bone in the same hand along with the lead, and when the hand is closed you can probe between the fingers, and you will find that when the lead is touched by the probe, even the slighest touch, you will hear a distinct response in the telephone, but no response will be heard when the bone is probed. It is essential that the metal of the bulb and of the probe be the same and different from that of the missle to be located."

The speculation upon which the in-

The speculation upon which the inventor enters after describing his instrument to the New York Academy of Science, is a lofty flight, but who shall say in this day of research and discovery that it may not be determined to be feasible and reliable to utilize this current of electricity in the body, for the purpose of diagnosing certain diseases, as he suggests?

"The facility with which we are able to oband a current of electricity sufficiently strong of operate this instrument from the body of the to operate this instrument from the body of the person operated on, is a fact which seems to me of great importance, tor it holds out a hope that we may in future find such electrical difference to exist between healthy and diseased tissues and systems that it may prove of great assistance in the diagnosis and treatment of diseases. I have already found that a difference exists in the strength of the current in different individuals, and in the same individuals under varying circumstances."

It is asserted that since its establishment, the Patent Office has taken frem the American peo-ple, mostly poor inventors, nearly three millions of dollars over and above the cost of its maintenance. At the present writing a very large surplus stands to the credit of the office. Had these surplus funds been properly appropriated for the pr. tection and maintenance of all good and valid patents issued by our Government, the American people would have benefited thereby. Under such protection fewer monopolies would have come into existence; more in ventors, deserving success and a competence, would have found both; the temptation to enact fraud would have been much less. The exact figures of receipts and expenditures of the Patent Office are, up to

GIGANTIC MANUFACTORY IN THE SUBURBS OF SACRAMENTO.

Sixty Million Bricks Turned Out Annually-starting Up of the New Process Yesterday.

Five miles south of this city, a short distance beyond the end of the Riverside road and along the east bank of the Sacramento river, is located one of the most important manufacturing enterprises on the Pacific coast. It has grown up silently from a small beginning and very few of our people have any knowledge of its existence. Fewer still have any conception of the importance of the work going on at this comparatively secluded spot. People driving along the road, which runs some distance from the works, have noticed an interpretation of the importance from the works, have noticed an interpretation of the importance of the works, have noticed an interpretation of the importance from the works, have noticed an interpretation of the importance of the works, have noticed an interpretation of the importance of the works, have noticed an interpretation of the importance of the works, have noticed an interpretation to any one else, because a finer building would be constructed upon it, the grounds would be improved and made more attractive.

On Tuesday he notified Mr. Steffens that he could not hold it any longer; that they were in need of the money, and if the Government wished to take the property it must manifest its disposition to do so within a week, otherwise he would give notice that the property was for sale, and give all an equal chance to bid upon or purchase it. Under these circumstances it became necessary, in order to secure the lot for the Government, that some action be taken here, as the Secretary of the Treasury distance from the works, have noticed an immense brick chimney rising one hundred and thirty feet into the air, without knowing that it was connected with the most

Here one man can handle the clay from 30,000 to 35,000 brick per day. which is fed from the pug mill above. The process is a most interesting one and the overland train. Kernell is the well-known pidity. One man operates an ingeniously Irish comedian, and was billed to appear constructed sand box, which sands the in this city last night. When the train arrived at the depot officers Arlington and Rider boarded it, and found Kernell in a other man receives the molds as sleeping-car, sound asleep. He was evidently sleeping off the effects of liquor. Smoothing off the upper surface and passing He claimed that he did not know what he was arrested for. On his person was found man at the dump table, who turns them $119 59, a sleeping-car ticket to Ogden, and a cheap watch-coain, to which hung a match-box, besides some beer-saloon cards and run out upon the level space beyond, and a few letters. He had with him a where they are stacked in rows until the gold-headed cane, on which appeared the brick are dry, when they are removed to inscription: "To John Kernell by his the kiln upon large trucks carrying 400 friends in Monterey, December 14, 1887." each. A precocious four-year-old, after Last evening officer O'Linsky came up | watching the process with open eyes and mouth for about five minutes, exclaimed

"Well, ain't that a funny way to make mud pies!"
The second machine is situated some two contract with Ned Foster to play three or machinery in these mills is said four weeks at the Bella Union, and to be the latest improvement in instead of the ground, as the surface of the he is said to have a good round bank ac- latter is always more or less uneven. It is count. His arrest probably grew out of not the purpose of this article to attempt any detailed description either of the ma chinery or the new process of brick-making out to give the reader a general idea of the work that is going on at the place. The most important feature of the works is a new kiln which will burn bricks cor nuously, the fires never going out. It i ng is of brick, elliptical in form, 154 feet ong by 40 feet in width. The walls are 20 feet high and 9 feet thick at the base. There are openings through this wall, 17 feet apart, all the way round the building, through which the brick are to be taken to be piled in the chamber where they will be Each compartment will hold 25, 000 brick. When a section is full the fires can be started up, being fed with a small quantity of coal, through small pipes from the trop of the building. The mpartments can be worked separately without loss of heat, so that the work of utting bricks into one part of the chamber and taking them out of another can be kept ip continuously. In the center of the illding is a smoke chamber, through which run numerous flues connecting the drying chamber with an immense chim ney, 130 feet in hight, which stands a few feet south of the kiln. The draft is regulated by levers on the top of the buildin One of the most important features of this process, it is claimed, is the very small quantity of fuel consumed.

In addition to the buildings already erected two sheds are to be constructed along-side the kiln for the purpose of storing enough pressed bricks to burn through the winter months when the work of making the brick cannot be carried on. These sheds will be 154 feet long by sixty feet wide and covered with iron roofs. The op of the kiln will be bricked over and nen covered with iron the same as the sheds. A tramway will be constructed upon which to run the bricks from the in to the barges for shipment. Throughout the grounds thousands of Clarence Beck, the youngest son of John feet of water pipes have been laid and water is pumped into every building. whole business. The plant in its present state has a capacity for making 130,000 brick per day, or 3,380,000 per month of twenty-six working days. This amounts to an annual output of 40,560,000 brick per annum from two machines, to say nothing of about 70,000 per day or 21,000,000 per annum, made by hand. Employment is given to about 150 men, for whom neat white cottages have been built on the grounds, giving the works the appearance of a thriving little manufacturing town.

The site occupied contains 250 acres of land located directly on the east bank of the Sacramento river at a point where the channel runs on that side, giving deep water and splendid shipping facilities. Barges lay along the levee and gangs of men are at work unloading wood and coal

The necessity for this action lies in the fact that the ground is needed by the Government, yet the Secretary of the Treasury could not purchase it as this time. The telegraphic news of yesterday was that a bill had passed the United States Senate appropriating $150,000 for a public buildg in Sacramento. There is some doubt re as to what is meant by this. By some it is supposed that the original appropria-tion of $100,000 has been increased to $150,-000. The first report received here of the action of the Committee on Public Buildings was that they had recommended an additional appropriation of $50,000, but when the official report was received it was found that they recommended an increase of $150,000, making the total $250,000.

Chinamen will be permitted to trade in defined areas, but the number in each of the districts must not exceed five. The bill also imposes restriction as to residence and trading. Traveling Chinese, with passports, will not be allowed to engage in mining operations, except by permission of the Government. The bill does not affect Chinese who are British subjects.
